

Project Update: August 2001

Just for your information, regarding my project in Nui Chua, everything is going well. I am going there nearly every month to collect data, except in September and October, the rainy season, where almost all roads will be cut off. The project will be finished next year.